The referenced ACIN transmitted to each county a local agency survey schedule to be completed as part of a national AFDC QC error rate study. The attached letter to California's county welfare departments from HHS communicates their thanks for your assistance in the study. I would also like to express my appreciation for your cooperation in this worthwhile effort. I believe the study results will be beneficial to all levels of government involved in public assistance program management.

We will provide you information on the study's findings and conclusions when it becomes available later this year.

Sincerely,

KYLE S. MCKINSEY
